British Play Part in Raids On Airfields

Developing Artillery Fire Indicates Big Scale Operations Are Being Planned By Rival High Commands

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 7.—(AP)—British bombers have made a punishing raid on Brindisi, vital port and naval base at the heel of the Italian "boot." Royal Air Force headquarters here announced tonight.

By J. WES GALLAGHER

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Informed quarters today attributed a reported shooting of Italian air force over northern Greece to the swift Greek army drive into Albania, which they said demoralized Fascist communications, coupled with British and Greek bombing of Italian airfields.

The government used the lull to strengthen anti-aircraft defences. Salonika had an air raid last night morning but the all clear sounded a few moments later without any enemy planes being sighted.

Ironically, Italian guns will be used to tighten the Greek defence against air raiders. A whole trainload of captured anti-aircraft guns and other war material arrived from the front last night.

By BEN AMES

ATHENS, Nov. 7.—(HUP)—Ministry of public security asserted today that 1,000 Italian prisoners had arrived at Salonika from the Florina-Kastoria front. The high command admitted that Greek troops had fallen back slightly on their extreme left wing, near the sea coast on the southern or Epirus front. No details of the withdrawal were given.

An exchange of artillery fire is taking place along the whole northern or Florina-Kastoria front, the communique said.

It is on the southern front, where the Italian offensive is gaining, that the Greeks in turn have gained an advantage. A large force of Greek Italian troops have been sent to the front.

ITALIAN GUNS SIZZLED
The steadily developing artillery fire on the front was taken to mean that the respective high commands are preparing for big scale operations.

It was asserted that the Greeks in capturing a new line of hills on the Florina-Kastoria front, Tuesday, had secured four Italian anti-aircraft guns, 105 mm. howitzers and 32 machine guns.

Greek planes bombed Italian army units at various points and made reconnaissance flights over Italian held territory.

Well informed sources in Athens said that Greek and British are planning, co-operating closely, their attack on the Italian army units. The British are planning to use their heavy bombers to attack the Italian army units.

VALONA PORT DAMAGED
Informants said that severe damage was done to the newly improved Albanian port of Valona, which is a vital link in the Italian supply line. The port was damaged by a series of bombs which were dropped by the British.

The aviators were quoted as saying in reply to questions why they bombed operations at Salonika that the fire of the Greek guns was so intense that they did not have time to take proper aim. The aviators were reported to have said that the British are planning to use their heavy bombers to attack the Italian army units.

Greek Troops Are Now Near Koriza
By HENRY T. GORRELL
SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 7.—(HUP)—Government quarters here today reported that Greek troops are now near Koriza, a strategic point on the front, had reached the neighborhood.

ALBERTA WILL AGAIN ASK FOR BANK CHARTER

mitted to the committee by Mr. McTavish, solicitor representing the Alberta government.
"Furthermore the province did not have the opportunity of answering the committee's questions raised by the Dominion legal department. Finally the House of Commons was prorogued before having an opportunity to discuss and voting on the report of the legal and common law committee, the statement continued."

GRAIN MARKETING

The clause also discussed the marketing of grain and the difficulties that farmers and all organizations would be urged to give for federal action. Immediate action it was felt should be taken to relieve the farmers of their surplus grain and to provide dry facilities for feed and rough grain.

In dealing on the bank action the clause said it was considered essential that, even though a charter within the limits of the federal Bank Act, could not permit the province to introduce the free-trading reforms of Social Credit, great benefits would accrue to the people from a banking institution under their control.

Need for reorganization of present grain marketing was pointed out and it was pointed out that the introduction of an equitable freight system would be a major step which would assist tremendously in enabling the wheat to market at a profit. The clause also referred to the profits from such loans go to the banking institutions. With a government-owned bank, such profits would not be necessary and the full profits from such subsidies would accrue to the people.

The clause also discussed the Bowditch-Sims report on Dominion-province relations, felt that it would be profitable to consider any constitutional reorganization in view of administrative adjustments which a full review of the province would be necessary.

Discussion against the proposal of the United Nations organization, for union of all governments was made on the grounds that the union would lose the right to reform their internal economy. It would mean destruction of national democratic rights and institutions.

Criticism of short-sighted policy of eastern interests in opposition to the industrial revolution was voiced and it was stated that development of industries here would really increase.

Speech From The Throne

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Text of the Speech from the Throne, read by the Governor-General at the opening of parliament today, follows:
Members of the House of Commons.
Members of the Senate.
You have just met for deliberation, all countries have come to have a clearer conception of the magnitude of the present conflict and the great forces of aggression which are being organized in Europe.

Additional nations have been threatened with war or have become involved in war. But little of freedom is now left in Europe. Force and fear are the only laws which have been established in the world.

International tension has been heightened by the formation of an alliance between the axis powers and Japan.
The world situation, other events of even greater significance have served to confirm our confidence in the ultimate outcome of the struggle.

For four months, Britain has confronted the front line of battle and the forces of aggression. The British people have shown the world that they are not to be intimidated by the insolent attack of her people.

The destruction of freedom throughout Europe has awakened, in the western hemisphere, a fuller consciousness of the Nazi menace and the face of the common peril there has arisen a closer association and an increasing measure of co-operation between the United States of America and the nations of the British Commonwealth.

You have been summoned at this time that opportunity may be afforded for the fullest consideration and discussion of Canada's war effort and of national problems which have been presented to the House of Commons. You will be fully advised of international developments of Canada's co-operation with the United Kingdom, and the relations with the United States.

The measures which will be submitted to you are such as seem necessary to the members of the House of Commons and the Senate for the prosecution of the war to the utmost of our strength.

Members of the House of Commons.
In the discharge of your very responsible duties may I direct your attention to the following points:

Need for reorganization of present grain marketing was pointed out and it was pointed out that the introduction of an equitable freight system would be a major step which would assist tremendously in enabling the wheat to market at a profit. The clause also referred to the profits from such loans go to the banking institutions.

"The victory was a popular vote which Mr. Roosevelt 27,467,672; London 16,758,341; and 14,458,716. The numerical size of the Roosevelt vote has been given a record-breaking magnitude of Republican ballots. Although the count was not yet complete, it was evident that the Roosevelt vote surpassed the previous Republican high of 21,000,000 in 1936. Roosevelt himself landed in 1932 in his great 'prosperity' landslide."

But the victory was still a surprise. Mr. Roosevelt had a multitude of efforts awaiting his victory. Problems of foreign policy, plans for great assistance to Britain and defense programs, all will be presented to Congress quickly in the background the election, the Roosevelt victory was a surprise.

CO-OPERATION ASSURED
On these major questions the president received an increasing number of assurances of co-operation and support from the ranks of his erstwhile political foe. To implement these assurances, a public meeting was held in Washington in every section of the country.

Following upon Willkie's telegram of congratulation to Mr. Roosevelt, the president of the United States, the country by radio, Mr. Roosevelt was to go back to his home in New York.

In Palo Alto, Calif., former President Hoover said that both Roosevelt and Willkie were great Americans and that the election was a triumph for the American people. He said that the election was a triumph for the American people.

Nazi Claim False

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(CP)—The Press Association Tuesday said the British airman, Winston Churchill, had been shot down by a British pilot, contradicting German claims that she had been damaged by bombs. The captain and the German dropped four bombs but all missed.

In the Middle East, a person born under the sign of Jupiter, or "Jove," was supposed to be merry and gay, hence our word "jovial."

Have YOU had a APPLE

to-day?

They are rich in Vitamins and Minerals... A quick and delightful refresher.

TAKE the pleasant way—the apple way—to health. Eat B.C. apples every day, every way, for pleasure's sake and for health's sake! And now is the time to buy them—while they're at their best—fresh, flavourful, tender and juicy.

For dessert, serve B.C. apple fritters, apple pie, or apple dumplings. They're easy to make, simple to serve—and always popular. Keep a bowlful of B.C. apples handy for eating... they are "Roxie Check Assurance" for the kiddies... and a healthful, refreshing treat you will all enjoy.

A PRODUCT OF B.C. FRUIT GROWERS

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

The infant is indifferent to solitude and though he may smile when people attend him, he makes no complaint when left alone. This happy state does not last, however, shortly the baby is crying for attention and crying disconcertingly when his mother departs. Baby, in a word, has learned to like company.

Mrs. L. A. C. writes: "Could you help me? My daughter, a night months old and up to a week ago was a perfectly good baby. She would play by herself by the hour, and still does, if I am in the same room. The minute I leave she cries constantly and won't play at all until I come back. I have been ignoring her cries, but so far this has not helped."

Perhaps, until a week ago, the baby was not thoroughly conscious of the meaning of your absence. No doubt you have been with her a lot since her birth and so have become a familiar part of her environment. She likes you, she wants to play with you looking on. When she finds that her cries have brought you back she knows that to raise her voice louder enough will bring about the situation she finds most enjoyable.

You are right to ignore her crying. No, only when you leave the room, if you must, but when you come back. Even though the mirrors glances at your return, if you find her the girl the idea that she has suffered some injury because of your absence.

What she should learn is that you go away and you come back, and that if she is patient, and doesn't cry, you come back just the same. PLAY ON EMOTION

Mothers are often so flattered at the child's desire for their company that they play upon this emotion. Because there are emergencies to control, because of child's play by learning to enjoy the ministrations of strangers. If it is an injustice to the child to ease him in his demands for the mother's constant presence. He must learn to be happy and contented and busy without it.

Myrtle Meyer Eldrid will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children. If you will send a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldrid of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Baked Squash Is Another Favorite For Fall Diets

Baked acorn squash with apples and raisins.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADHUK

Winter squash, baked to perfection, is rich in vitamin A and supplies calcium, phosphorus and iron. It is low in calories and is therefore welcome by those trying to keep down their weight and at the same time keep up their intake of vitamins and minerals.

Winter squash is divided into several branches. The Fallow Acorn or acorn squash is one of the most widely used. Its shell is dark green, hard and ridged, and the flesh is a rich orange-yellow. Hubbard and Boston marrow squash are other popular winter varieties. In selecting squash, choose one heavy for its size and free from blemishes. The rind should be firm and smooth. If rind is soft, that means the squash may be immature and the flesh thin and watery when cooked and lacking flavor.

The mild bitterness of apple and raisins combined with acorn squash can produce a delicious vegetable, fruit and meat combination at low cost.

BAKED ACORN SQUASH AND SAUSAGES

(Serves 6)

Three acorn squashes, 4 lemons, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 apples, 2 tablespoons sugar, 12 sausages. Wash squashes, cut in half and clean. Place in two-quart glass baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and dot with butter. Pare apples, cut into thin slices and core. Place one third, rounded side up, on each squash. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

Prize sausage until brown is skillets over direct heat. At end of 45-minute baking period, place two sausages at each of apple on each

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been happily married 10 years. Have two very fine children. My husband has been ideal. He is hard-working, industrious and has given me all the luxuries of life. He has fine social contacts and has no affairs with women.

I am considered attractive, and wherever we go the men make a big fuss over me. They tell me how pretty I am and of course, these places are many. Many men like me while dancing and on other occasions. I have been nothing more to me, but my husband gets furious. He tells me that a married woman has no right to permit men to see her and says that if he finds out they think that I will probably tell myself to an affair with them.

He has asked me to refuse to allow other men to kiss or neck me. Says it makes him unhappy. I think they keep me feeling young and that he has deceived you. The wonder is that he hasn't done it long ago. But don't try too far. Eventually he is getting fed up on your comfort and in the end, you know, even the humblest woman will turn.

Answer—Unless you want to find out some fine day that you have deceived your husband's supply of patience and forbearance and that he has deceived you. The wonder is that he hasn't done it long ago. But don't try too far. Eventually he is getting fed up on your comfort and in the end, you know, even the humblest woman will turn.

Apparently you have no real affection for your husband or else you would not be so avid for the kisses your dancing partners bestow upon you. Nor would you get such a kick out of their phone love-making.

But even a pretty girl you would make a don't you think to swap off all the comforts and luxuries your husband gives you, for something of his love, for the sake of a few little affairs that tickle your vanity because they make you feel that you still have the power to attract men.

The woman philosopher is an even bigger fool than the man philosopher because with her the same is such a short one. In a little while she loses her beauty and she has lost everything—the power to attract men, a husband who is disillusioned and contemptuous of her, children who are ashamed of her and the respect of all who know her.

Your hour is about to strike. Beat the clock and get back home. Otherwise, before you know it, glass slippers turn to lead.

Points For Parents

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. MCKENNEY, American Card Authority

On our trip from Quebec to Halifax we followed in the wake of the storm that severely damaged the simple crib. We were keenly interested in the game.

And at Halifax, the anniversary of the war situation in Canada was forcibly brought home to us. After dinner and our favourite book a little time out from right-sock to play some bridge. We must have been seated with our crib because I took considerable consolation for Mrs. McKenney.

South to get into a contract of six clubs on today's hand. I was sitting North and did not want to support her bluff with a singleton. Mrs. McKenney made the contract in the following manner:

The opening lead was with the diamond king and an ace of hearts were cashed and a heart ruffed. The spade ace was cashed, followed by the diamond ace and the spade king, on which a heart was discarded.

Now a small spade was ruffed, a small club played to the ace and a diamond ruffed. The last heart was ruffed with the queen of clubs and East made only one trump trick.

played by the quick action taken by the Canadian farmers to suit.

course at Toronto university last spring and then went to Aklavik as the invitation of an Anglican mission there. After making the 7,000 mile trip from Australia, the dentist travelled through the United States, Mexico and South America. He won a private pilot's license in Texas and did much of his travelling by air.

He is a guest of Dr. M. A. McIntyre of this city.
